

THE DAILY NEWS.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1874.

JOHN W. DUNHAM, Editor.

ADAM STONE, Manager.

LET THE DAILY NEWS BE THE ONLY PAPER IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH WHICH TAKES THE TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS.

WE call the attention of all parties wishing printing executed neatly, expeditiously, and upon reasonable terms, to the facilities offered at the News Printing Establishment.

WE can furnish at short notice BLANKS, BILL HEADS, LETTER HEADS, CARDS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, PAMPHLETS, CATALOGUES, POSTERS, CHECKS, DRAFTS, &c.

AND so it goes! In the Chattanooga Radical Convention now in session on HILL, (colored) Secretary of the State of Mississippi, introduced a resolution endorsing the civil rights bill; which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions with manifestations of disapproval on the part of white members.

THE President's reported amiable and apparently upright intentions about purifying the Federal offices in the South, it is now said, will probably meet with obstacles in the Senate. That body will hardly, it is said, surrender its monopoly of the appointing power. The reform said to be contemplated by the President may therefore be resented by the Senate as an invasion of the privileges of that body.

SOUTH CAROLINA bonds, already in the market, are not helped by a recent discovery that $1,250,000 in fraudulent ones have been issued by SCOTT, PARKER and CHAMBERLAIN. Attorney-General MELTON was informed of the fact, and his reply was that it was none of his business to look into it—just what CHAMBERLAIN said when he was asked why, if he was not a thief himself, he did not prevent his associates from signaling.

THE New York Times' correspondent—a Republican—writing from Louisiana, makes the following statement:

"It must be confessed that Northern adventurers come and lease plantations, giving the crop as security for the rental. The negroes are so confident that they will always trust to a white man, and they work away for a whole year, and then when the crops are sold Mr. Adventurer steals away and does not pay them a red cent. Perhaps the readers of the Times will not believe that any man could be so base. Luckily, I can give the name of one. Hon. Mr. Sypher, member of Congress from Louisiana, who was counted in by the wholesale forgery of affidavits in the Plaquemines district—vide Congressional report of speech of Hon. Matt Carpenter, January 20th and 20th, 1874, on Louisiana affairs."

The Development of the Resources of North Carolina.

The resources of the State have been referred to in their three-fold aspect, as of the forest, the soil and the mine. We are not in the habit of properly estimating the great value of our forests. They have been and are still destroyed with a recklessness which shows an utter ignorance of the whole subject of the value and uses of woods and of the vast commerce and business of which they are the basis. There are immense areas of "new ground" cleared every year, of which the timber thus destroyed is of much greater market value than the soil. And the magnificent pine forests of the East are already almost ruined by the process of turpentine getting, and thus one of the most valuable timbers of commerce will soon be exterminated from our borders, and all for a pitiful and precarious pittance, dependent upon a most uncertain and elastic market, and to the neglect and decay of the proper agricultural industry of the region. And so of the other sections, each of which has its special and various forest wealth, timbers for ship-building, for the vast and numberless mechanical businesses, for staves and for furniture, these sources of prosperity in the near future are being dried up by a ruinous and useless waste.

One object of the Survey is to call the attention, first of our own people to the important basis of industry and of trade, and secondly, of the outside world. These objects are attained by publications of facts at home and abroad, by lectures, and by prepared specimens of our woods in the State cabinet, and in prominent museums in Europe, and by directing correspondents and capitalists to the best regions for the material they seek. "Already these efforts are beginning to tell; and a number of mills and machine shops have been established in the Middle and Western portions of the State whose products are distributed through the channels of commerce to the most distant countries, and lumbermen from abroad are exploring for themselves and taking estimates, and to some extent making investments. And there is no doubt that in this direction the next few years will witness very great improvements and the rise of industries. Therefore, let there be no more useless destruction of timber, to more clearing of new grounds and turning out of old fields, less turpentine, and above all let there be an end made of that most useless, expensive and semi-barbarian institution, the wove fence.

The Convention.

Desiring to give the readers of the News the benefit of all the arguments for and against the proposition for the calling of a Convention by the next General Assembly, we publish herewith the letter from the Hon. MATTHIAS E. MANLY, of Newbern, written in reply to a letter from the editors of the Journal, asking his opinion upon the subject. The specific points to which Judge MANLY's attention was called are embraced in the following questions:

1st. Do you think the best interests of the people of North Carolina require their Constitution, the "Canby Constitution" so-called, to be materially and speedily amended?

2d. If, in your opinion, material changes in the Constitution ought to be made, which mode of making those changes, do you think the best interests of the people of North Carolina demand should be adopted, that by Legislative enactment or by that Convention?

3d. The Conservative-Democratic party having an undoubted two-thirds vote in each House of the General Assembly, what do you think is the duty of that party in reference to the calling of a Convention by the Legislature at its approaching session for the purpose of amending the Constitution?

The answer of Judge MANLY is as follows:

JUDGE MANLY'S LETTER.

NEWBERN, Oct. 1st, 1874.

Gentlemen:—While I disclaim for my opinions all significance above those of my fellow-men, the emergency, however, that you think it grave to demand an answer from every one to the question you put. It is, therefore, from a sense of duty as well as from courtesy that I reply to your letter of the 20th ult.

1. The Constitution ought, in my judgment, to be amended in many material respects, and it should be done at once, as indispensably preliminary to useful legislation. There is no person in the State, it seems to me, who has the sense to form a judgment upon the subject at all, and who, at the same time, is capable of freeing himself from the blinding effects of prejudice and self-interest, who does not understand and acknowledge this. Many of the provisions are foreign to our habits and modes of life, unsuited to the condition of our people, cumbersome and very expensive. It is also tainted with an arrogant use of moral platitudes and exhortations, is unintelligible or absurd in parts, and has many matters crystallized into constitutional law which belong to the evanescent and changeable ideas of the day and ought to have been left to the domain of ordinary legislation.

2. Of the two modes of amendment, that of a Convention of delegates from the people, is the only one which meets our need. The mode by acts of successive Assemblies is dilatory, and is, indeed, hardly practicable, where material amendments are required. Such mode is appropriate only when a single amendment is wanted, or at most a few.

With defects and blemishes interwoven, as it were, as in our case, it requires a council, sitting together, and freely interchanging views, to eliminate them thoroughly and leave the law in a consistent state. It is not possible to inform people in their neighborhood meetings of the intended sense of a variety of amendments, of their relations to each other, and of their general effect upon the State. The experience of mankind has shown that in such cases, a full understanding and complete and satisfactory work can only be done by persons acting collectively, (collegially). The force of the objection to legislative amendment, will be plain when you consider that each amendment must be in a separate bill in order to avoid the risk of losing the whole by the failure on the part of the second Legislature to pass the bill identical in all its parts, that was proposed by the first. A question is made as to the validity of the amendments of August 1873, upon the ground above indicated, and is now pending, we are informed, in the Supreme Court of the State. A Convention is the only adequate remedy for the intolerable political evils to which the Legislature is now subjected, and the sooner it is called the better.

3. Premising all proper respect and deference to the approaching General Assembly, and relying upon their judgment, as to the wisdom and patriotism of the measures proposed, I proceed to answer your third interrogatory. If the requisite number in each House concur as to the necessity of a Convention, I see no reason why it should not be called this winter.

The experience of the past few years convinces me that legislation in North Carolina to any good end must be crippled and inefficient as long as the constitution remains as it is. We are pining continually from bad to worse. We are encumbered with public debt that must ultimately crush us, unless something be done. The opportunity for selfish and unprincipled demagogues still further to encumber and plunder us is afforded by the laws as they now stand, and these must be changed. The risk of losing the present majorities, if such would be incurred by action (which I do not believe) is insignificant compared with the great benefits to be derived from the amendments proposed. The evil would be of trifling import, temporary in its nature, and repairable at the ballot box; the good, great, permanent, and lasting probably for all time to come. The summer elections prove a wide spread opposition to the existing order of things. It was a popular upheaval under the chafing of the laws and the pressure of the times, and imperishable to their administration. The people had honestly endeavored to accommodate themselves to the harness that had been invented for them, but without success. They had turned from side to side for relief, but got none. No longer able to bear it, using the power still happily left in them by the laws, they now send to the Assembly the suggestive number of two-thirds of Conservatives Democrats opposed to these laws and to this rule. This is the way I interpret the elections of the summer. If the work of changing the Constitution is not done this winter it will amount to an indefinite postponement. It will be a confession on the part of the Conservative party that it is powerless for good, and a call for its dissolution. A two-thirds majority is a rare providence in the history of parties in free governments. If we fail to avail ourselves of it to accomplish an acknowledged necessary good, it would argue an indifference to the future of our State unworthy of freemen.

The objection to a Convention arising from apprehensions, that certain features in the Constitution, as it now stands, might be interfered with could be obviated in the organic law of the Assembly by calling a restricted Convention. As a Convention called by the Legislature, it follows that any convention assembling without call, or acting outside of the call, is irregular. The Convention called in 1835 was a restricted Convention. The restriction was recognized as obligatory by the Convention under the leadership of some of the greatest minds North Carolina has ever produced, then in the Convention. It was not for granted, therefore, that a Convention now called can be restricted from interfering with certain subjects, for instance, the condition of the colored people of the State and the homestead provision now made by law, and that such restriction would be scrupulously obeyed. Not think such restriction at all necessary, for the rights of the colored people are secured by the Constitution of the United States, which is the paramount law, and any change indeed would be against the wishes of our people, and the homestead provision is engrained deeply in the affections of all classes of citizens, and no representative body would dare to go contrary to this feeling. But nevertheless, to quiet all apprehension, let a restricted Convention be called, and as an additional security, by all means let the Constitution, when amended, be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection.

It should be remembered that the Constitution cannot be changed except in a two-thirds majority and in possession of this indisputable power and prerogative, if this condition be "per se" such a happy one that no amendment of the Constitution should be attempted, for fear of disturbing it, it follows, logically, that we shall never change our Constitution, and more, however much we may think it needed.

I conclude by repeating the suggestion that tidal waves in politics are not periodical as are the tides of the ocean. They come now and then, when most needed, and wise men avail themselves of them to get into a port of safety.

I am, with much respect,
Your obedient servant,
M. E. MANLY.

Will our Conservative exchanges in the State give their readers the benefit of Judge MANLY's views on the Convention question?

SALE OF A DESIRABLE RESIDENCE IN WARREN COUNTY.

By virtue of a decree of Warren Superior Court, made in the case of Elias Carr, Alexander Carr and Elizabeth, his wife, Executor of Wm. B. Carr, and others, I shall offer for sale on the premises, on the 20th day of October, 1874, at public auction, the tract of land whereon the late Wm. B. Carr resided, and a half mile from Warren on the Louisville road, containing about eight and a half acres. The tract is believed to be partly for sale, for each acre, at a price of $100.00, and is a large, convenient and elegant one. The out-houses are good, and will have a new opportunity of buying a desirable residence in a healthy neighborhood, and where there is good society.

One-third of the purchase money will be required in cash, and the balance to be paid by instalments, at the rate of one-third per annum, payable in equal instalments in one, two and three years, with interest on the unpaid balance.

At the same time and place, Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper, Executrix of Wm. B. Carr, will offer for sale, for cash, one day of the tract, which is believed to be of superior quality, and is a large, convenient and elegant one. The out-houses are good, and will have a new opportunity of buying a desirable residence in a healthy neighborhood, and where there is good society.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

The Southern Radical Convention at Chattanooga—North Carolina Represented.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Oct. 14.—The Convention was called to order at 10 a. m. yesterday by General Andrew Neill, of Texas, one of the Vice-Presidents.

The deliberations opened with prayer by Moore, colored, of Georgia. An enthusiastic old man from Alabama thanked God for a meeting of the Convention, as in a multitude of counselors there is a multitude of strength. Some one from Texas hoped that no smoking would be allowed, as it made him sick.

The Chairman of the Committee on Facts and Statistics, desired to receive the reports of the outrages.

The Committee on Correspondence announced that they were ready to report. They read a letter from ex-Governor Davis, of Texas, and one from Mr. Brewster, of Alabama. After the Chairman of the Committee had bungled over a few pages of Davis' letter, the Governor came forward and read it himself. It was very long, occupying nearly an hour, and was a laborious effort to prove that the same report attributed the white portion of Southern people as in 1860 and 1861, and that a new rebellion was forming in the South.

Kellogg and Moses might be corrupt, but knowing the Democrats as he did, their assertion to that effect was proof to the contrary in his mind. He thought the summer plan of wiping out state lines in the South the wisest, but that was impossible. He favored compulsory education by Congress, and prompt relief when the State officers are seized by fraud and corruption.

The North Carolina delegation, W. G. Kennedy and George W. Price, reported and took their seats.

An address from Brewster, of Monroe, La., was read, in which the great wrong of the South is popular education, which should be sustained by Congress, and which should teach morality and obedience to law, and not to admire the assassins and murderers, but to defend the rights and justice to all should be maintained.

A resolution was offered endorsing the Civil Rights Bill and denying the truth of A. H. Stephens' assertion, that the colored people did not want the Democratic party, and that the Democratic party was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

Committees on schools, on publication and to collect outrages, were appointed.

Election Returns.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Oct. 14.—Sufficient returns have been received to show, beyond doubt, that the State has gone Democratic by from seven to ten thousand majority, and the Democratic party has elected the following Congressmen: Bowling, 21st District; Sawyer, 1st District; McMahon, 4th District; Rice, 5th District; Hurd, 6th District; Neal, 7th District; Ward, 8th District; Walling, 12th District; Southard, 13th District; Cowan, 14th District; Payne, 20th District; and probably Wilson, from the 17th District; Appleton, 18th District; and Seney, 19th District.

If the Democratic claims are sustained by official returns, the Democrats have gained 7 Congressmen, which gives them 14 out of 20 Congressmen from Ohio. The results exceed most sanguine Democratic expectations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—Official and semi-official returns from 75 precincts in 50 counties, show Democratic gains of 678. The Republican Central Committee concede the election of the entire Democratic State ticket by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority.

Republicans claim a majority in the Legislature, which is not conceded by the Democrats from precedent indications.

Congressional delegates will stand as follows:

First District, Herndon, Republican; Second, Williams, Democrat; Third, Kerr, Democrat; Fourth, New, Democrat; Fifth, Holman, Democrat; Sixth, Johnson, Republican; Seventh, doubtful; Eighth, Hunter, Republican; Ninth, doubtful; Tenth, Collins, Republican; Eleventh, Evans, Republican; Twelfth, Hamilton, Democrat; Thirteenth, Baker, Republican.

Locheste county gave a Democratic majority of 670, being a gain of 375. Fulton county shows a Democratic majority of 93, being a Republican gain of 4.

In Fayette county Holman's majority for Congress is 125, being a Democratic gain of 143.

In Randolph, 11 precincts give Claypool a majority for Congress of 1,125, Republican loss of 124.

The Episcopal Convention.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The Episcopal Convention adopted the report that it was inexpedient for that body to take any action towards the assembling of the Synod of the Bishops of the Communion with the See of Canterbury for the consideration of the questions relating to the English version of scriptures and the relation of the Anglican Church to other Christian bodies.

Outrages in Alabama.

NEW YORK, October 15.—The Tribune correspondent who was sent to Alabama to investigate the question of the outrages in that State, in a letter from Livingston, Sumter Co., of the 8th says: "I must not close this letter without calling attention once more to the fact that a great many of the reports received by the Attorney General from this State and given to correspondents at Washington, are either wholly without foundation or monstrously exaggerated."

NOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, October 15.—The Tribune correspondent who was sent to Alabama to investigate the question of the outrages in that State, in a letter from Livingston, Sumter Co., of the 8th says: "I must not close this letter without calling attention once more to the fact that a great many of the reports received by the Attorney General from this State and given to correspondents at Washington, are either wholly without foundation or monstrously exaggerated."

Foreign News.

SANTANDER, Oct. 15.—It is reported that a Carlist magazine at Artega has exploded.

Several bands of Carlists were defeated and pursued by the Independents with an aggregate loss to the insurgent of fifty killed.

Election News.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 15.—Returns indicate that the Independents hold the balance of power and the Central Senatorial election.

Ready Mixed Paint.

We call special attention to the excellent testimonials of Mr. C. P. Knight, in reference to Ready Mixed Paint. Not having used the paint, we can't speak from experience, but we feel sure it is to the interest of all our customers who desire painting to test the same.

THE CAREFUL ATTENTION of those who do not desire to try experiments but to make a certain provision for their dependents, is asked to the record and standing of the CONNECTICUT MUTUAL Life Insurance Company OF HARTFORD, CONN.

It has done business for twenty-seven years, and it has a membership of over sixty thousand, affording a broad and safe basis for the operation of the law of averages. It has accumulated assets (as shown by the sworn statement of the Company, December 31, 1874) amounting to $3,500,000. Surplus $1,100,000—a strength unsurpassed by any Company in the world, and it is believed, unequalled.

The entire expense of managing this vast business has been but 3.5 percent of the receipts. Its investments are made in such securities as combine, in the highest degree, perfect safety with a productive rate of interest. Not a dollar of its investment has been lost.

The Company issues policies on all desirable plans.
